Basic Data (excerpted from primary sources):

The Borner Mine apparently was developed sometime following 1944, when R.F. Borner purchased the land on which the mine was operated, and the mine was operated until about 1953, when the land was sold. The mine was operated privately, and the coal was produced only for personal use--no coal was sold locally or regionally; therefore, the mine was not required to report production figures to the CMID, and no CMID listings were noted for this mine. Additionally, no permanent buildings or structures were developed in association with the mine.

Descriptive information pertaining to this mine is included in: [source:year(pages)]

SHSND:NDCRS Site Files (32ME521)

Notes:

According to a local informant, this mine was operated as a small strip mine; however, a feature recorded at this mine when it was recorded as a cultural resource site in 1982 resembled a collapsed underground mine entrance.

The Sailer Coal Mine also is located at this Planning Unit and AML location.
